Green Papaya Art Projects proudly presents
GENERATION LOSS

Experimental Cinema, Video, Time-based Media
Presented by GREEN PAPAYA ART PROJECTS
in cooperation with COLOGNE/OFF 2012 and ARTVIDEO KOELN
March 14-28, 2012

Generation Loss explores the development of experimental film and video, as well as their contributions to the current and new genres in art making particularly in the Southeast Asian region. Generation loss is a technical term referring to the loss of quality between subsequent copies of data. The project attempts to address issues of archiving and archive-usage, production, distribution, technology, education, piracy and intellectual copyright, among the various creative moving image practices employed in the region today.

Jointly organized by new media artist/curator MERV ESPINA (PH) and CologneOFF curator AGRICOLA DE COLOGNE (DE)
